Q: jQuery Ajax: how to make $.post only once and if success then call another function I'm having trouble with this. $.post("", { action: "get_data" }, function(data) { var job = $.parseJSON(data); console.log(job); $.get("", { job: job }); console.log(job); }).fail(function(){ }); I wish I could get the 'job' and 'get_info' from $.post only once. I tried with return or result but nothing seems to work. It looks like it's calling '$.post' again and again in every loop. Any idea? A: try this : $.post("", { action: "get_data" },
